'66 . . .

St. Joseph's is composed of 1352 students and 54 faculty members. Each has his own character and personality, but for a nine-month year they become one. We focus on the senior with physics, the junior with chemistry, the sophomore with geometry and the freshman with his first foreign language. United with the teachers, they strive for educational advancement. Sports events and dances bring them closer socially. Clubs and organizations provide outlets for student talents.

Grecian Setting High- Lights Junior Prom

General chairmen Joe Bradley and Cathie Earley seem very happy with the success of their dance.

Ancient white pillars and a starlit ceiling surrounded the nineteen sixty-five Junior Prom, "Grecian Twilight." Couples danced the "Fox Trot," "Frug," and "Twist" to the varied tunes offered by Eddie Knight's Band.

The gala affair began at 8:30 and ended at 12:00. Some 400 students watched King John Schmidt escort Queen Kathy O'Neil down the steps of the miniature forum.

General chairmen, Joe Bradley and Cathie Earley, aided by ten co-chairmen, formed and executed plans for the prom under the guidance of sponsors Sister Marie Jeanne and Brother Francis Rotsaert.

The members of the Junior Prom court are: Bob Kent, Ann O'Donnell, Joe Bradley, Sue Foley, King John Schmidt, Queen Kathy O'Neil, Steve Pieroni, Vicky Derrida, Pat Lahey, and Cindy Olczak.

A Two-Step is enjoyed by Rich Joe and Kathy Vavul, Dick Sibly and Carol Stopczynski.

A brisk business is done at the refreshment counter, but there's a conspicuous lack of money.

During the Prom Brother Daniel Bengert chats casually with Cheryl Carr and her escort Terry Smith.

ABOVE: The "Strand" is the dance. Roberta Dunn has the step down; Kathy Braunsdorf and Jean McArdle aren't so sure. BELOW: At any moment the "Snake" may break out in long and sinuous coils!

Mixers Offer Break in Study Activities

A myriad informal dances studded St. Joseph's social calendar. Friday nights were the usual times. Particularly exciting were those dances held after a basketball victory.

Ordinarily these affairs were record hops lasting until 11:00, but at special times a band was provided and door prizes awarded.

Entrance fees were nominal and the proceeds went to a variety of good causes.

Two attitudes: Sally Barber concentrates and Bill Erlacher seems distracted.

Crowning of Court Climaxes Formal

Despite the cold night air, December 27th was "Warm and Wonderful" in Notre Dame's Stepan Center for the senior winter formal.

A new look was found in the decorations this year. The center piece and throne were combined to form five intertwining arches giving the illusion of flames, thus emphasizing the theme.

Tina Timmons and Phil Pritts were reigning Queen and King. General chairmen Jon Westmann and Mary Ann Graveel planned the dance under the direction of Sister Vincent Ferrer and Brother Francis Rotseart, moderators of the Senior Class.

Presented to the court and dancers are Queen Tina Timmons and King Tom Pritts.

Members of the Mid-winter Formal court are Tony Stough and Janice Horning, Rosemary Kaczmarczyk and Bob Kent, Queen Tina Timmons and King Phil Pritts, Kathy Makielski and Gerry Griffin, Peggy Stark and Jim Brunette.

If enjoyment comes from the spirit of the dance, certainly it is typified by Mary Ellen Nowak and Greg Michelos.

During a time out Ann Madar, Sue Schwab, and Tim DeBaets enjoy one of Joe Cunningham's anecdotes.

Wide
Array of Talent
Displayed

A trio composed of Pat Soboleski, Celia Backer, and Steve Quinlan sings for the Talent Show.

"It had to be you," sings Peggy Soboleski to Chris Stygar in their skit for the Talent Show.

The Annual Talent Show was presented by the combined Senates and moderated by Sister Vincent Ferrer. Prospective participants were asked to fill out a card describing their act. After a semi-finalist judging, the finalists appeared before the assembled students and judges.

Judges were Sister M. Dolorosa of St. Mary's College, Sister Yvonne of St. Mary's Academy, Brother Daniel Kane, and Mr. Samuel Skarich.

The first-place winner was John Kochanowski for his violin solo. The J.C.'s 9-Plus, a dance band, received second place; and third place went to the Bamber Quartet.

Acts were graded on the value of the selection, quality of performance, audience appeal, and stage presentation.

Contestants wait offstage as the Bamber Quartet (Len Grummell, Paul Barowski, Denis Bamber, and Joe Bradley) swing out with a number.

Re-enacting a scene from "My Fair Lady," talent show contestants Kathy Elias, Kathy Rys, and Kathy Pedtke sing, "Wouldn't it be lovely."

Academics

The main purpose of a school is to educate its students. This aim is accomplished at St. Joseph's with a broad range of academic studies, teamed with a staff of proficient teachers.

Being a diocesan school, religion is foremost in our program. College and vocational-minded students find studies that are offered to prepare them for their coming careers. Courses, varying from Advanced Latin to Foods and Clothing, strive to offer something for everyone.

English of Mass Analyzed in Religion

Celebrating the Mass of the Holy Spirit for the opening of school, Father Kline recites the Gospel.

Matching ideas for a model-church project in Sister Rose Loyola's religion class are Helen Pinkowski, Karen Renaud, Mary Kay Ratenski, Kathy Migas, and Kathy Dvorak.

In Senior Religion class Father Lallack stresses a point about miracles.

Religion is the basis of school life at St. Joseph's. The religion classes, retreats and Holy Masses, the influence of the teachers all helped to form the Catholic St. Joe student.

In the freshman year students studied the history of the Church, laying the foundation for their other years of religious study.

Sophomores poured over the Life of Christ, while the juniors delved into the more complex theological and philosophical subjects such as conscience, the soul, and grace.

For the seniors there were talks and discussions dealing with such current items as the revised Mass, birth control, racism, social justice, and ecumenism.

An informal discussion is carried on by Brother Richard Emge and his religion class.

*Exponents

Befuddle
Students*

In Math I Class Miss Woolldridge comments on a problem proposed by one of her students.

In Algebra Brother Richard Coutre elicits some lively interest.

No radical changes were made in the teaching of math in the Boys' Department this year. However, Girls' Department teachers, in a meeting last spring, decided to replace the customary paperback S.M.S.G. with hard-back books.

At least one reason for the change was expressed by an instructor in this manner: "Terms used in part two of S.M.S.G. were explained in part one, therefore the pupils needed S.M.S.G. from the beginning to understand it."

The new texts allow students to take algebra two years in a row. Previously pupils had to take algebra and geometry, then revert back to algebra in an advanced form. Geometry is now taken first to teach logical reasoning so that students will have a better background for algebra.

Jabbing a finger for emphasis, Brother Rosaire makes a point in trigonometry.

A problem in Brother Brian's High School Math class seems to have most of the students stumped.

English— Key To All Communication

In Mr. Rose's English class, Kevin Osborne pantomimes an Olympic skater.

With help from his students in Junior English, Brother Francis Rotsaert delves into the ideas in one of Hawthorne's short stories.

Recently an increasing demand has arisen for precise communication. The English Department of St. Joseph's headed by Sister Peter Julian and Brother Francis Rotsaert has recognized this growing demand and has modernized its teaching methods to prepare students for the challenges of college and career.

Increased emphasis has been put on the study of vocabulary, but not vocabulary learned by memorizing lists of words, but rather through more reading and discussion. Four years of grammar and writing are taught along with the increased stress on word power.

Explanation and discussion of selected pieces of literature—usually in paperback form—helps instill a greater understanding and appreciation. Comparison of different styles of writing and their authors provides an excellent opportunity for students to see how effectively they can use what they are learning.

The influence of Puritanism in American Literature is discussed by Brother Francis Rotsaert in his Junior English class.

Left: Jabbing a finger for emphasis, Brother Daniel Bengert makes a point about Addison and Steele in English Literature. Below: The object of interest in Sister Joseph Frances' journalism class is a report by Becky Michaels.

The book "Promethean Fire" is under discussion by Miss Adams and her students in English lit.

Basics of Second Language Examined

Other than English, three languages are taught at St. Joseph's. There are three years of Latin, two of French and two of Spanish.

Plans are being made to construct a language lab with the pull-down or pod-type earphones and microphones. The lab could serve as a regular classroom when the magnetic tape equipment isn't in use.

Since each department has access to the teaching of only one modern language—French for the girls and Spanish for the boys—(both have Latin)—consideration is being given to the possibility of “trading” students so both boys and girls will have the option of two languages. Several girls are already taking Advanced Latin in the Boys’ Department.

Another possibility is the teaching of a third year of Spanish.

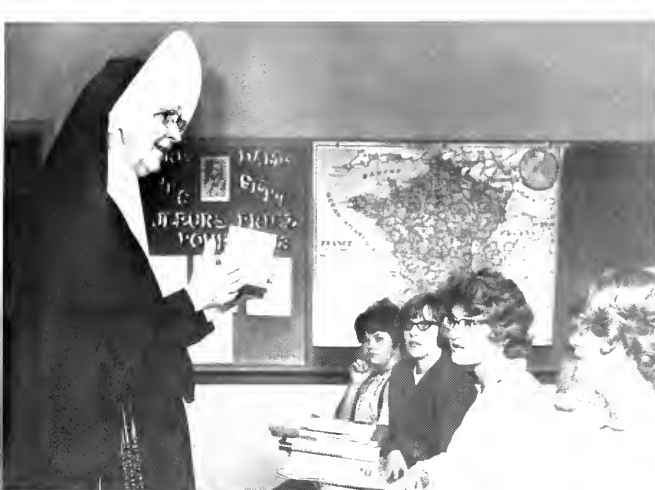

No language department as such exists and teaching methods are left pretty much up to individual teachers.

“Buenos dias, Juan.” begins an informal conversation in Spanish between Dave Lapczynski and Dale Lesicki. Brother Anton seems to enjoy the effort.

In the attitude of a band director, Brother Daniel Bengert leads his Advanced Latin class through a translation of Vergil's “Aeneid.”

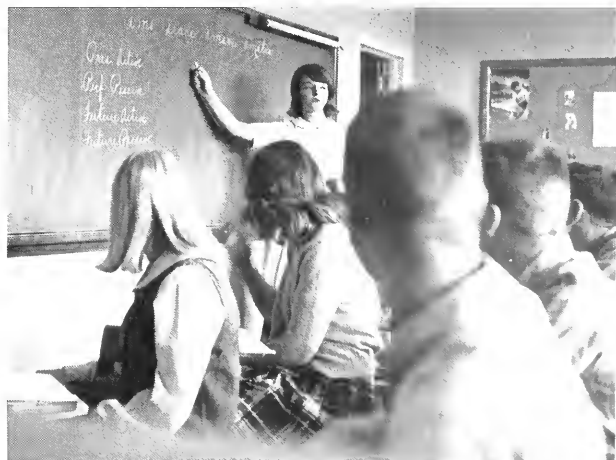

Using an index box to point up questions, Sister Berenice leads a conversation exercise in French.

How to play "Buzz" with Latin numbers is explained by Celeste Fredlake in Sister Rosalima's class.

Facts—Basis For Social Studies

Due to the addition of some new equipment and to some changes in teacher procedure, certain social studies have proven more challenging and interesting this year at St. Joseph's.

Several social studies classrooms are equipped with an overhead projector. The office now has a machine that makes transparencies and other stencils to be used in the projectors. These have proved valuable teaching tools.

New maps add greater historical coverage. In U.S. History prospective students were given a mandatory reading list for use during the summer. The idea was to stimulate historical interest.

More outside speakers showed up in social studies than formerly. Talks were given on current events, especially controversial issues.

Many teachers continue to make extensive use of bulletin board materials, audio-visual aids, and news magazines to inform and prick student interest.

During a report on hieroglyphics in World History, Carmen Samora looks back to check Sister Vincent Ferrer's reaction.

After making a point about an article in the "American Observer", Gordon Williams waits for a clarification from Brother Roy.

Student Action Further Cultural Achievement

Besides being improved spiritually, physically, and academically, St. Joseph's students have the opportunity to develop themselves culturally.

Moderated by Sister Joseph Frances, the Fine Arts Club offered a diverse schedule of activities dealing with the great works of painting, sculpture, music and cinema. Other features offered by the club were attendance at concerts by the South Bend Symphony Orchestra and discussions on award-winning films.

Under the leadership of Brother Daniel Kane, the chorus presented four programs ranging in selections from Bach to Broadway musicals.

St. Joseph's Debate Team developed under Brother Daniel Bengert's capable direction into a real area competitive power. The team is inter-departmental and includes twenty-seven debaters.

The beauty and power of Mr. Terry Rose's singing wowed the students and faculty at the Faculty Talent Show.

Fine Arts Club members admire the action and grace of the bronze "Hunter and Hound".

At a Notre Dame art exhibit, Jerry Griffin and Marcia Cressy are bemused by a sculptured Madonna.

At a Fine Arts Club meeting Tony Miller comments on a sample of modern painting.

Labs Stimulate Interest in Experiments

This is an age of science. Everywhere the phenomena and applications of it influence our lives. Because of this, subjects from Health and H.S. Math to physics and Algebra II are studied at St. Joseph's. These classes give students an opportunity to apply their knowledge in their future lives.

Students can interest themselves in extra-curricular activities to broaden their scientific outlook in an informal atmosphere.

Two new chemistry teachers, Sister Victor and Mr. Janowski, were added to the Faculty. Mr. Janowski is also Science Club moderator. It is the aim of these and other science instructors to broaden students' experiences and develop in them an attitude of open-mindedness and a spirit of inquiry.

The reaction of heated iron powder and sulphur placed in water by John Pleasants elicits varied responses from Mark Pajakowski, Tim Hoyer, Mike Jester, Larry Van De Walle, and Mark Pacholke.

Seemingly amazed at what he sees, George Wright peers at a chemical precipitate in a test tube.

Performing an experiment concerning larvae in Sister Elenor Jean's biology class are Cynthia Nawrot, Sue Lawler, and Ann O'Hara.

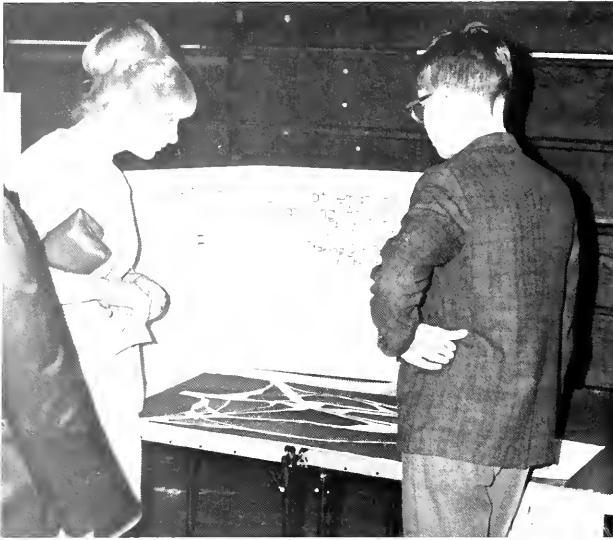

An energy principle in Brother Benedict's physics class is demonstrated by Felix Attard.

Graphically demonstrated by Brother Benedict in his physics class is the relation of resolution of weights into components.

Advanced Biology students Pam Bajdek, Kaye Slater, Shelley Shellenberger, and Carol Verwilt conduct an experiment in Mrs. Bick's class.

Theories

The "Mathematics of Highway Planning" exhibit by Mike Farris is the subject of interest to Kathy Makielski.

Left: A third-place trophy is presented by Brother James Linscott to Peggy White. Above: Certain elements of heredity and evolution are pointed out for Brother Rosaire by Ann Syniowski.

Left: The functions of a Linear Accelerator are explained by Tom Macri. Above: An exhibit on frog-dissection by Ned Klines and George Christin is the subject of much interest for Brother Paschal and some students.

Along with student projects at the 1965 Science Fair, exhibits were also displayed by local institutions. Numerous telescopes were loaned by the St. Joseph Valley Astronomical Society. Lab equipment from Lobund of Notre Dame and communication instruments from Bell Telephone were also exhibited.

Under the direction of Mr. Gerald Baker, the Science Fair gave the scientifically talented an opportunity to show their achievements.

First place in biology was taken by Ann Sypniewski with a display on evolution. Don Anderson and Tom Gavin captured the first place in chemistry with a demonstration of the Solvay Process. A planetarium projector displayed by Ken Susnjara claimed the physics division first, while Tom Szabo won first in math models.

Some pointed questions about his "Life of a Pigeon" display are addressed by Mrs. Derda and her daughter Vicki by Dennis Szczepanski.

Practical Skills Benefit Careers

Classes in practical arts at St. Joseph's provide knowledge and experience aimed primarily at business and domestic careers.

Typing, an almost indispensable skill these days, is offered in both departments. In addition, courses in shorthand are taken by girls whose desire is to equip themselves for a secretarial job.

Home economics teaches girls everything from planning and preparing a well-balanced meal to mending a torn skirt.

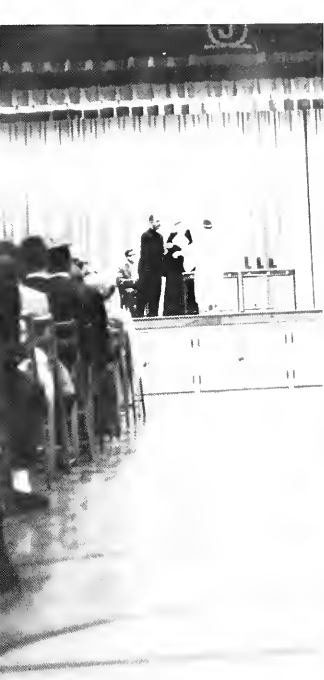

A journalism class is also offered to girls. This class has as its principal project assistance in publishing the school newspaper, the Hi-Lite.

Mechanical drawing, usually very popular with prospective engineers and draftsmen, and shop classes were not given this year.

"You should have the paper under the bale, Chuck," Brother Edward tells Pinkowski.

Students Acknowledged for Notable Performances

In May of each year at St. Joseph's, outstanding scholastic achievement is recognized and honored. This year Scholastic Honor Certificates were given to those students who consistently maintained exceptional grades. Special medals were presented for excellence in a particular field, such as Spanish, Senior English or chemistry. Also, full or partial college scholarships are bestowed on exceptional students.

Assembled parents heard speeches given by valedictorian Patricia Trok, who had an average of 99%, and by salutatorian Ronald Chandonia whose average was 98%.

Representing the transfer of responsibility, the senior class president passed the "tomahawk" to the junior class president, thus concluding Honors Night.

Activities

Along with the intellectual aspect of school, St. Joseph's concerns itself also with the social life of the students. Offered to all are numerous clubs, organizations, and activities.

Some follow closely the academic structure of the school, such as science and French clubs. Others aid the student in the choice of a profession, such as Future Doctor and Teacher clubs.

All of them help round out the informal side of one's education.

The peddler, Ali Hakim, tries to sell Laurey a magic love potion as Aunt Ellen and Ado Annie look on disapprovingly.

Drama Club Strikes Oil in "Oklahoma"

Certainly "Oklahoma", staged in mid-December at I.U. Extension Theater, was the most ambitious effort ever presented by the St. Joseph's Drama Department. And judging from the crowds and their enthusiastic approval, the production was the most successful in the school's history.

The play, directed and produced by Miss Judith Adams, was choreographed by Mrs. Cirretta Coty and musically conducted by Mrs. Beverly Nantkes.

"They went and built a skyscraper seven stories high . . ." exclaims Will to his cowboy friends.

Flattery proves an effective agent for Will to dispel Ado Annie's coyness.

Curly finds "Surrey with the Fringe on Top" an easy way to break the ice with Laurey.

Some element of the "Oklahoma" script proves funny for Miss Adams, director of the production, and two of the leads, Cathie Earley and Chris Stygar.

THE CAST FOR "OKLAHOMA"

Band, Chorus —Music Appreciation

Composed of some twenty members, the pep band played at sports rallies and games. Although few in numbers, this band, under the direction of Mr. Samuel Skarich, was long on enthusiasm.

A really professional organization is the chorus, a hundred members under the expert direction of Brother Daniel Kane. Frequent concerts—usually of show tunes aided by combos and folk-singing groups—were presented. This group proved extremely popular with the students.

Belting out a folk song at the Chorus Concert are Chris Stygar and Jim Gillis.

Trombonist John Cesulka leads the "pep band" at the basketball assembly.

A Roman toga is measured for Jessica Isban. She, Mary Jane Chandler, Rhonda Ross and Margaret Pajakowski prepare a dramatic scene for the Latin Club.

Clubs Spur Enthusiasm for Languages

To further the interest of students in foreign languages, St. Joseph's offers two language clubs.

Sister Rosalima, moderator of the Latin Club, encourages students to study the culture of ancient Rome. Members participate in Latin games and skits, besides viewing movies of Roman life. The end of the year is highlighted by a Roman party.

Under the guidance of Sister Berenice, the French Club strives to maintain a lively French atmosphere throughout the year. Members enjoy playing question and answer guessing games in French. Another favorite activity is corresponding with pen-pals. Club pins are available to members signifying their active part in the club. As in the Latin Club, a party marks the year's end.

Students Benefited by N.H.S. Tutoring

The National Honor Society is an elite organization. Only students who show all-around qualities—scholastic, leadership, character and service—are admitted. It is really the lack of a selfless dedication to the betterment of the school that excludes some students.

At St. Joseph's only juniors and seniors are accepted, about seventy all-together. An official initiation ceremony is held twice a year.

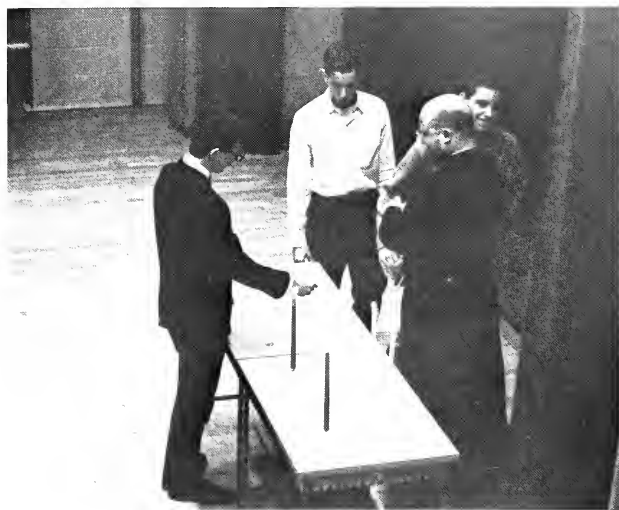

A point of N.H.S. policy is pounded out by moderator Brother Francis Rotsaert and officers Joe Drucker, Joe Bradley, Dave Badagnani, and Mike Kopinski.

Amateur Scientists Combine Activities

"To encourage and co-ordinate the activities of amateur scientists ..." was the aim of this year's Science Club. The moderators, Mr. Janowski and Mrs. Bick, strove to fulfill this aim.

Many trips of scientific interest proved to be fascinating experiences for club members. Monthly meetings featured films and lectures.

The Club encouraged participation in the Science Fair, which proved to be one of the most interesting held at St. Joseph's.

Faculty and Students Co- ordinate Through Senate

The Senate, composed of the eight class presidents and a representative and alternate from each homeroom, was under the guidance of Sister Rose Loyola and Brother Edward Olszowka. Its purpose is to achieve better communication between the students and faculty.

Important Senate services were a Christmas clothing drive, the publication of the Student Directory, and the preparation of a club identification booklet.

An upcoming dance is the point under discussion between Brother Edward, moderator, and Senate members.

Students Learn Assisting Administration

Junior and senior students of both departments filled the posts of the office staff during their free periods. The administration's choice centered primarily on those with above average grades. They assisted by delivering messages, answering phones and filing cards.

Sister Louis Irene is greatly indebted to her library staff for its work. Volunteers shelved books, typed out book cards and worked at the circulation desk.

The Secretarial Club is an organization composed of senior and junior girls. Talks on the secretarial vocation are given at the monthly meetings.

New books for the library are classified by Sister Louis Irene and Marianne Bilinski.

Clubs Visit Places of Occupational Interests

The Future Doctors Club presented a series of movies on open-heart surgery. An all-day bus trip was taken to the University of Michigan where the hospital facilities were visited. Some club members did voluntary work as orderlies at St. Joseph's Hospital.

The Future Teachers Club held its annual induction in December and attended the Indiana convention at Indianapolis in April. Movies on the several fields of teaching were presented at meetings.

Proper planning for depth in speech content and its forceful deliverance earmark a good debater. How to effectively use these factors is taught in the Debate Club.

Brother Daniel Bengert, moderator of the club, and his assistant, Brother Roy Smith, instruct students in how to develop clarity, force, and logic in speech. Along with giving aid in organizing a plan—an approach to the problem—they teach how to research facts and to use them.

Through actual competition students are given needed experience in the art of debate.

This year St. Joseph debaters had a full, far-ranging schedule including the St. Joseph's Valley League, the Ft. Wayne Diocesan League, the W.S.B.T. Radio debate and nine state tournaments.

There are twenty-seven debaters in the club.

Year Unfolds Through HI-WAY

Under the direction of moderator Brother Anton and editorship of Vic Jagmin, the staff spent an hour and a half daily preparing the 1966 HI-WAY. Even though the work was steady, it became rather feverish at deadline times. A pride in its traditional high quality stimulated the determination to earn another "A" with the N.S.Y.A. critical service.

The yearbook is well organized. Three senior editors—for the 1966 HI-WAY Vic Jagmin, Gary Urgonski, and Don Berger—each with a year's experience, ramrod the book. Each year the editors attend a two-week summer journalism seminar at Indiana University. The "outer circle," beginning junior staffers, have been given training the previous spring. These members will eventually become editors.

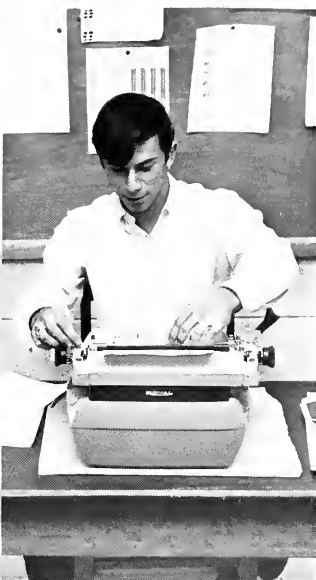

With a critical eye for density, Brother Anton, HI-WAY moderator, checks two football negatives.

Journalists Pen News for Hi-Lite Headlines

Each month St. Joseph's students receive a new edition of the school paper, the Hi-Lite. This publication achieved fair and complete coverage of school activities. The quality of the Hi-Lite was due to the untiring efforts shared by the new journalism advisor, Sister Joseph Frances, editor Liz Langford, and the entire newspaper staff.

Among the changes that were introduced this year were the contracting of a new printer, enlarging to a conventional size paper, and making a professional-style five-column layout.

Writers brought the Hi-Lite into more of a focus on students through opinion polls, feature stories and the belief that people rather than events are of greater interest. This fresh outlook succeeded in bringing greater pleasure to the Hi-Lite readers.

Athletics

St. Joseph's is known primarily throughout Indiana for its athletic teams, because it's athletics that get the most publicity. Indian teams, especially in football, have, over the years been uncommonly successful. 1965-66 teams' escutcheons were somewhat tarnished, but in every sport the season was a "winning" one.

Breaking through a gaping hole in the right side of Elkhart's line, Joe Brunette tries to evade a defender.

All alone in the end zone against Penn, Steve Pieroni pulls in a T.D. lob from Mike Peiffer. Terry Smith hurries over to add his help.

Before the 1965 football campaign started, St. Joseph's coaches were heartened by the defensive possibilities of the squad.

On the matter of offense there was a general feeling that there would be less strength than formerly for two reasons particularly: the loss of experienced quarterbacking through graduation and the chronic leg difficulties of half-back Dave Badagnani.

The analysis proved accurate. Defense was the Indians' strong suit. In eight games our line held the opponent to a yard and a half a down.

On defense Paul Czonowski, Tom Block, Steve Pieroni, and Terry Klysz were outstanding. Tom Block was tops with 86 tackles.

Offensively Dave Badagnani surely deserves recognition as "Most Valuable Player." Quarterback Mike Peiffer with 36 points was the team's high scorer. For Mike's companions in the backfield too much praise can't be heaped on the consistent efforts of Terry Smith and Mike Farabaugh.

After a long run that broke open the Penn game, Dave Badagnani receives solicitous help from team trainer Jim Rulli and manager Mike Kopinski.

Shadowed by an injured player on crutches, the Indians line up for the kickoff following a touchdown against Hobart.

Being visitors at Laporte, Co-captains Tom Block and Dave Badagnani have the privilege of calling the flip of the coin.

Taking advantage of a screen by Larry Radecki, Terry Klysz drives on Clay for a basket.

In his first year at St. Joseph's, Coach Robert Donewald directed the team to a 10—10 record. After a bad start, the team at mid-season began to jell. It won 8 out of the next 10 games. With the addition of John Fischer during this drive, the Indians gained valuable height and defensive strength.

The city scoring title was taken by Mark Hurtubise with a 21.6 point average. Larry Radecki's 17.7 average was also high among city scorers. Larry was also the team's top rebounder.

The other member of the forward wall was Terry Klysz, who improved tremendously as the season progressed. Terry Smith, a tremendous competitor, held one guard position and the other was split by Dave Kelleher and Paul Fredlake.

As Terry Klysz blocks out a Washington forward, Larry Radecki gets a clear shot at a rebound.

Six Old Track Marks Erased

Several school track records fell in 1965. Clocked at 10.1 Terry Smith broke previous times for the 100-yard dash. In the 440 Doug Breunlin toured the track in the time of 50.6 seconds. The city's best miler, Dan Saracino, broke his former record and set a new time of 4 min. 27 sec.

Ed LeCouteur, one of the two top city hurdlers, set a record in the high sticks at 15.1 sec. With a jump of 11 ft. 6 in., Brian Van DeWalle surpassed all previous Indian efforts in the pole vault. Terry Smith, Mike Horvath, Dave Walsh, and Doug Breunlin teamed in the 880-relay to the tune of 1 min. 32 sec.

For the second consecutive year, Dan Saracino was the recipient of the Bernard Haag trophy for most consistent track effort. Doug Breunlin was given the annual Kiwanis Award for competitiveness, leadership, and sportsmanship.

Pitching and Fielding Highlite Season

Between innings at the Penn game, Indian hurler Dave Smith bends way down for a drink at the kiddie fountain.

Taking a high throw, Jim Brunette touches first way ahead of a Central runner.

The 1965 team had great desire but was thin on the experience side. Their record was 8—7.

Two senior pitchers, Mike Pianowski and Dave Smith, who hurled to their senior battery mate, Bruce Hardman, and a quick and alert fielding team provided a strong defense that allowed only three runs per game.

The offense slugged in an average of more than five runs per game. Mike Pianowski and Joe Brunette led the club with batting averages of 350-plus. Mike Weist was the leader in RBI's, batting in two-thirds of the team's total runs in the first eight games.

The number of returning players from the '65 campaign will give Coach Terry Rose and his staff a good nucleus from which to shape the '66 team.

Tournament Highlights Intramural Schedule

Intramural games and other physical activities are provided to give exercise to those boys who have no gym classes and who belong to no major sports.

Pep Rallies Spur Team

Pep assemblies have often consisted mostly of skits with only the remotest idea of "pepping" a sport.

This year assembly efforts again rotated among the various classes. A new idea, an "informal" assembly, was tried. At these the team, coaches and M.C. were in the balcony.

No definite seats were assigned to the students who gathered en masse on the gym floor and faced the team. This type of assembly proved very popular.

Freshman Breaks Varsity Sports Barrier

The Monogram Club is made up of varsity athletes—some 48 of them this year—that have won the coveted “J”. Under the direction of Coach Robert Donewald, the organization tried to unite the members into a useful influence in school.

The club not only tendered its services as ushers at basketball games but promoted school spirit by sponsoring assemblies and dances.

Mark Hurtubise was president of the club, Pat Lahey vice-president, Ross Havens secretary, and Dave Badagnani treasurer.

Personalities

A school in essence is the people who inhabit it. St. Joseph's is composed of 1350 students and 60 faculty members. Each is striving for a goal: the student to obtain the best possible education in four years of effort and the teacher to lead students to the truth.

Father Vrabely completed his ninth year as superintendent of St. Joseph's, while Brother James Linscott finished three years as Principal. Sister Robertina this year replaced Sister Mary of Good Counsel as Vice-Principal.

Due primarily to the pull on Mishawaka students of the new Marian High School, St. Joseph's enrollment has dropped from 1650 to 1350.

Some changes have been made in curriculum. Mechanical Drawing wasn't taught this year. There was some inter-departmental combining of classes. A small number of girls took Latin III and physics in the Boys Department. Some thought is being given to admitting both boys and girls to Spanish and French.

Progress on the Brothers' new residence is a constant source of interest for Brother James, St. Joseph's Principal.

Ordinarily strewn with papers, a clean desk is a rarity for Brother James LinScott, principal. Here he busily types a business letter.

Peace and momentary freedom from administrative duties is found in chapel by Sister Robertina.

Three Religious Celebrate Golden Anniversary

Any school would be lucky to have one of its religious teachers celebrating a Golden Jubilee. St. Joseph's has three: Sister Francella, Brother Owen, and Brother Benedict. And what's more all three of these religious are still very active in teaching, although Brother Owen, due to failing eyesight, may retire soon.

Our heartiest congratulations are extended to these jubilarians, and our warmest gratitude for your help in class and the good example always.

Order

Mr. Pete Kline, in charge of plant maintenance, goes over some work orders with Cash Craberak, Bob Deitchley, Harry Otolski, and Ted Klosinski.

Seniors Generate School Spirit Through Leadership

Every year it's the same: by weight of experience and maturity, Seniors anchor traditional school activities and athletic teams. Some pointed achievements were made by the '66 Seniors. There were five Merit Scholarship semi-finalists, one semi-finalist for a National Honor Society scholarship, and three Seniors compose the varsity debaters who were generally considered to be second best (after Lafayette Jeff) in Northern Indiana. The class had one all-stater in football and the area's top scorer in basketball.

Besides all these accomplishments, what really distinguished the Seniors of 1966 was their constant efforts to "do something" about flagging school spirit.

Arms akimbo, Senior Class president John Schmidt waits patiently as a committee mulls over some dance plans.

Senior Class Moderators Sister Vincent Ferrer and Brother Francis Rotsaert talk over plans for the Senior Ball.

Senior Class officers are Chris Voorde, president; Kathy O'Neil, vice-president; Ann O'Donnell, secretary; Sue Jaroszewski, treasurer; John Schmidt, president; George Christin, vice-president; Dave Badagnani, secretary; Mark Hurtubise, treasurer.

National Honor Society inductees Vic Jagmin, Larry Radecki, and Tim Pine reflect varied reactions to their new status. Secretary Mike Kopinski sits in the foreground.

There's much to do about a handkerchief as Joe Bradley and his date, Cathie Earley, share an intermission.

Seniors Patronize Variety of Clubs

Silence is conducive to study and Kathy O'Neil takes advantage during a stint as library assistant.

Juniors Begin To Feel College Entrance Pressures

The Class of 1967, consisting of 356 students, contributed greatly to the success of the St. Joseph year.

Juniors prepared for increased leadership to be theirs in the senior year, participating in many school clubs. Junior names were also prominent on the rosters of Indian athletic teams.

The class sponsored many informal dances, and the Prom was the biggest social event of the year. Behind these activities were the guiding hands of Sister Victor and Brother Daniel Kane, the Junior Class moderators.

Light Begins To Brighten for Advancing Sophomores

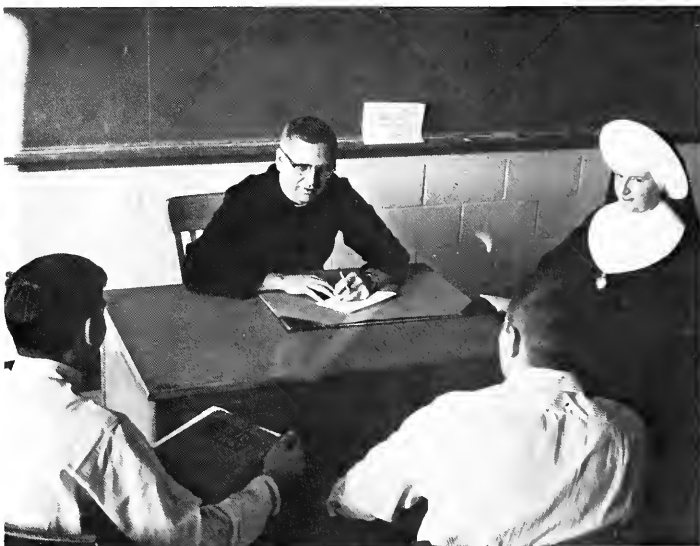

Sophomore Class Officers are Maureen Riley and Mark Till, vice-presidents; Joe Brunette and Celeste Fredlake, treasurers; Jan Towner, president; Paul Muszik and Pat Szajko, secretaries; Frank Sullivan, president.

Traditionally Sophomores make bad jokes about freshmen. It seems that they want everybody to notice that they are one year older and infinitely more experienced.

Actually Sophomores are true adolescents: no longer children and not quite men! The Greeks chose wisely the origin for the word "sophomore".

But the Sophomore Class of 1965-66 did try to accept increased responsibility. They sponsored a couple pep assemblies, saw some of their names show up on the honor roll, and the roster of athletic teams.

Sophomore Class Moderators Brother Richard Emge and Sister Marie Jeanne talk to a couple of the class officers, Mark Till and Joe Brunette.

Varsity Cheerleader Cheryl Carr puts some aspirants through their paces.

Changing Classes and Teachers— New for Freshmen

This year's Freshmen had good class leadership and responded to it enthusiastically in a number of activities. They contributed more than other classes in the Appalachian food and clothing drive. When School Spirit Week came along, Freshmen out-stripped everyone in the variety and imaginativeness to their response.

For the first time in the school's history, a freshman made the varsity basketball squad.

Of course there were many minor achievements like sponsoring dances, parties and assemblies.

Freshman Class Officers are Dave Crighton, secretary; Phil Smith, president; Debbie Slott, vice-president; Karen Peczkowski, president; Tom Prestwor, vice-president; Ernie Szarwark, treasurer; Sharon Ames, secretary; Monica Moore, treasurer.

Freshman Class Moderators are Brother Richard Coutre and Sister Miriam Roberts.

Focus

On

'66

The '66 HI-WAY focused on a year which meant something a little different to each of us. We saw the first co-ed class in the school's history, numbing defeats and exhilarating victories in sports, a sharp rise in school spirit. Religious retreats, welcomed and actively participated in, made clearer God's plan for us.

We focused on '66, a year whose happenings might become cloudy but would never fade completed.
